Reflection for 32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time (Year A)

The Wisdom of God Guides us Through Life

Christ, our bridegroom, invites us to his banquet in heaven where he shall satisfy all our inner longings for God. Vigilance and watchfulness then become the lighted torch with which we march to heaven with Christ. We ask for God's wisdom to live in readiness for his Son's coming.

We Marvel at the Wisdom of God: God is the ruler of heaven and earth and it is with his wisdom that he rules the universe. It was with his wisdom that he created heaven and earth and all that is in them. It is also with this wisdom that God sustains life in his creation. In his infinite wisdom, he has also made us partakers in his work by giving us the responsibility of tending his creation (Gen 1:28-30). If we are to nurture God's creation, then we also need a share in his wisdom to enable us to carry out this divine task.

Christ is the Wisdom of God: The wisdom of God is the divine truth shining through the world and illuminating the whole of humanity. In his teachings, Jesus declared himself as this divine truth which leads us to God, and which assures us of eternal life (Jn 14:6). St Paul also refers to Christ as the divine wisdom which God predestined for our glory and salvation (1 Cor 2:7). When we rise early to seek Christ, he comes to us and stays with us in our daily struggles. With Christ on our side, we will win each day's battle (Ps 108:13).

Wisdom is our Torch of Vigilance: The Gospel Reading (Mt 35:1-13 – the parable of the Ten Virgins) is an exhortation on vigilance and watchfulness in our journey of faith. Jesus uses the Jewish marital custom to communicate this message. After the period of betrothal, the groom would lead a procession to bring his new wife to their home and they would celebrate a week-long banquet with family and friends. In the Gospel Reading, the bridegroom arrives to find some virgins not ready for the banquet procession. He, however, went in with those who were ready. In the parable, the bridegroom stands for Jesus and the virgins are Christians who have been invited to the heavenly wedding feast.

We note that the bridegroom was delayed. This delay was not unplanned. Rather, it was intended to give the virgins more time to prepare. Unfortunately, some of them did not take advantage of his delay to prepare for his coming. This delay of the bridegroom signifies God's patience with us. Many have used this opportunity to get closer to God while others have not utilised this opportunity to know God and live according to his commands. St Peter then warns us that God will surely come and so every moment should be used to move closer to our salvation (2 Pt 3:9). With this wisdom at hand, we will be ready for the Lord when he comes calling.

In the parable, we were also made to know that the requirement for gaining entry with the bridegroom into the wedding hall is a burning lamp. The lamp itself could signify the word of God. Psalm 119:105 refers to the word of God as the lamp and the light that guides God's children through life. The oil in the lamp is the Holy Spirit who gives new life to Christians. It is with the power of the Holy Spirit that we are enabled to bring the word of God to life in our lives. It is with this oil of the Holy Spirit that the Father has set his seal on us and claimed us for himself (CCC 698). Through the life of the Spirit in Christ Jesus, we remain spiritually vigilant and attentive to the voice of God speaking in us and through us.

The lamp could also be understood as the Christian faith which we received at our baptism while the oil could be identified as the good works with which we keep our Christian faith alive. This explains why St James (2:14-17) teaches that faith without good work is dead just as a lamp without oil cannot give light. It is with this wisdom that comes from God that we are enlivened to carry out good works while living out our Christian faith.

Facing the Unexpected: In the parable, we also learn that the virgins met with the unexpected while waiting for the bridegroom. Their experience relates to the unexpected challenges and trials we also face in our lives. With the help which comes from Christ, we are empowered to face the unexpected situations in our journey towards God. With the radiant and brilliant wisdom which comes from God, we can surmount the challenges of life. In the face of the unexpected events of our lives, may we find Christ, the bridegroom, taking us by the hand and leading us to his wedding feast of peace and joy in heaven with Mary and all the saints. Amen.
